Lifetime Achievement Award

This award recognizes individuals who have established a history of distinguished service to APHL, made significant contributions to the advancement of public health laboratory science or practice, exhibited leadership in the field of public health, and/or positively influenced public health policy on a national or global level. Nominations should be made from a broad field of candidates (a minimum of three nominators). This is not a retirement award, but a true Lifetime Achievement Award. Only current APHL members are eligible to be nominated for this award. See yellow sticky notes for nomination guidelines.

4. Instructions:

All four questions listed below must be addressed. In the space provided, please give a description of the nominee's accomplishments that addresses the questions in a thorough manner. The Membership and Recognition Committee invites specific details on the work history of the nominee. The committee cannot consider any qualification or achievement that is not included in the nomination materials. Bullet points are acceptable for the first three questions.

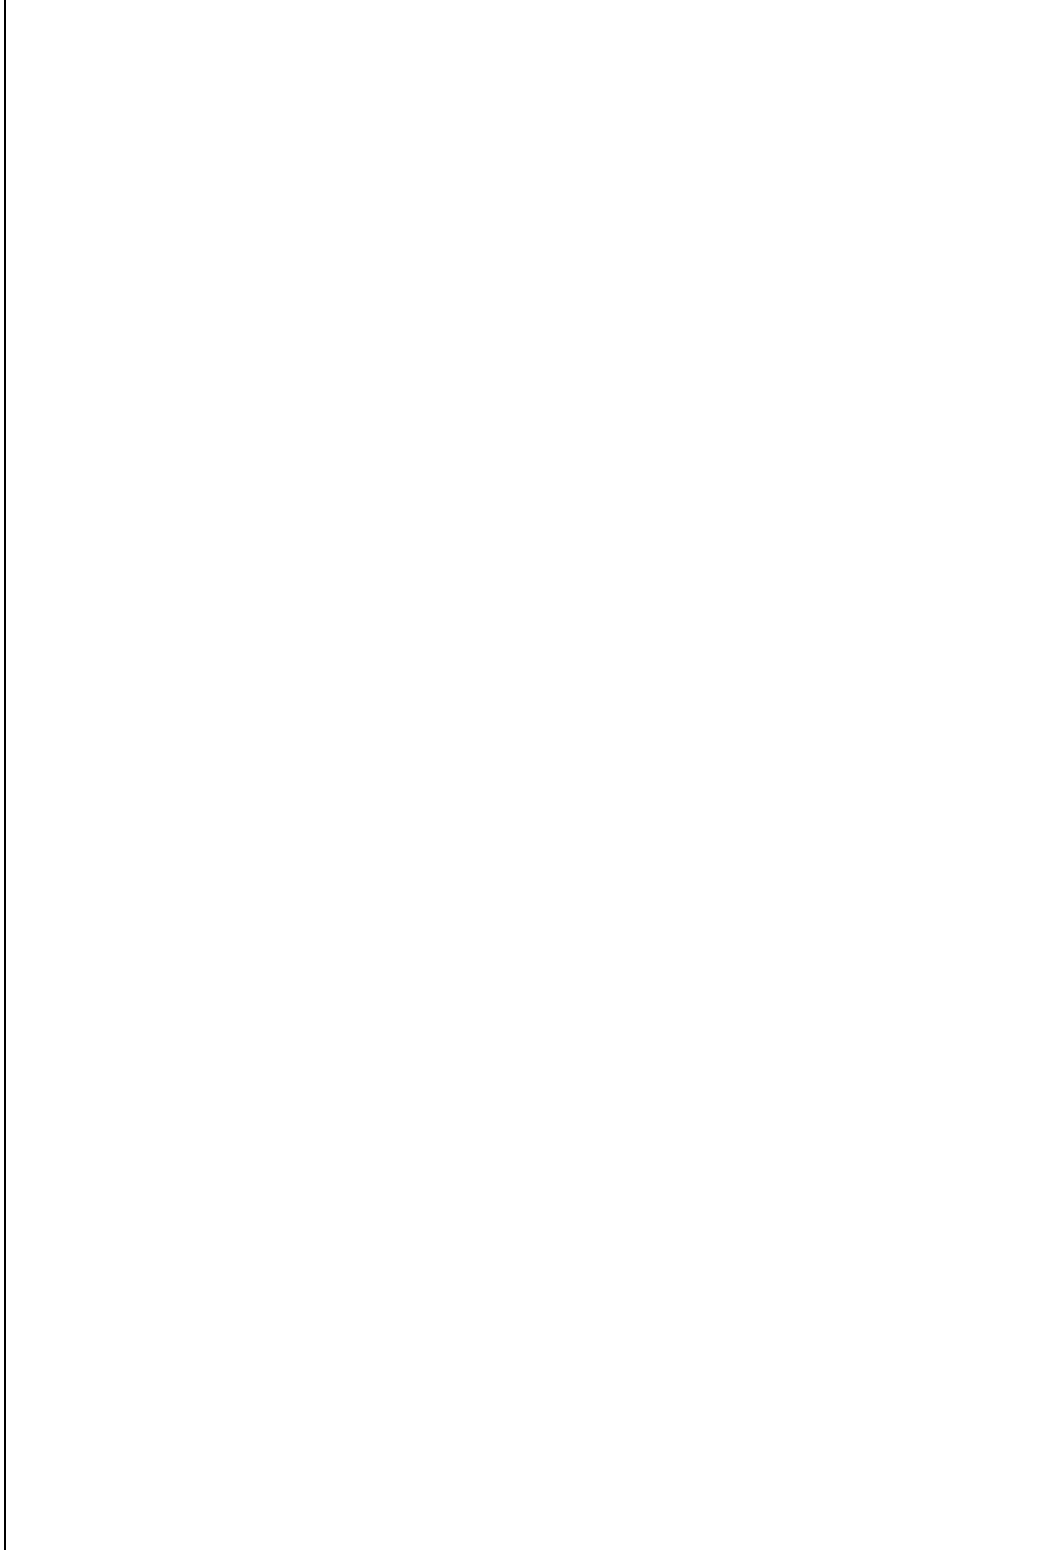

1. Discuss the nominee's history of service to APHL. In particular, address positions of leadership held within the association, such as terms on the Board of Directors or as a committee chair. Include any other known association history, such as participation on committees and workgroups, and any examples of the nominee representing APHL officially as a liaison to other organizations or at national meetings.

2. Discuss the nominee's significant contribution(s) to the advancement of public health laboratory science or practice. Be as specific as possible by including teaching positions or academic appointments; awards or honors from professional or scientific organizations or institutions (provide name of award/honor and date given, if known); citations of scientific papers, book chapters, etc., in which the nominee was a principle author; or positions as editor or author of a scientific or public health periodical(s) or book(s).

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the user to write their response to the question above. The box is currently blank.

3. Provide examples of the nominee's leadership in the field of public health including, but not limited to, examples of positively influencing public health policy on a national or global level. (Government committees and workgroups, advocacy for public health laboratories and science, senior positions in health fields, other public health committee participation.)

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the respondent to provide examples of leadership in public health as requested in the question above.

4. In your evaluation, how did the nominee's contributions support the advancement of public health laboratories? Please answer with 500 words or less in an essay-style format
