Corporate Visibility Opportunities

PUBLIC HEALTH LABORATORIES
ANALYSIS — ANSWERS — ACTION
BACKGROUND

The Association of Public Health Laboratories (APHL) is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization uniquely representing state and local public health, environmental, agricultural and other public sector laboratories. APHL serves as a link between member laboratories, federal government agencies, and private sector partners, and is the primary advocate for the laboratories that monitor and detect public health threats. APHL’s members are a critical public health resource in identifying and monitoring outbreaks of infectious disease, chemical contaminants in people and the environment, and food borne illness. In addition, these laboratories screen newborns for genetic and metabolic disorders; respond to natural disasters, industrial accidents and suspected biological, chemical and radiologic terrorism; conduct testing that supports enforcement of water, food, dairy and environmental safety laws; research disease trends and develop new laboratory technologies; and contribute to the formulation of state and national health policies.

MEMBERSHIP

APHL’s members include state, territorial, and local public health laboratories; state environmental testing laboratories; state agricultural and food safety laboratories; and individual scientists, public health officials, federal agency representatives, academicians, and students. Over 75% of our members either make buying decisions or recommend items for purchase for their laboratories.
BENEFITS

Membership in APHL guarantees your company visibility to the institutional and individual members of the organization, through complimentary exhibit booth space and full registrations for our Annual Meeting, at least one complimentary set of member mailing labels, discounts on advertising and logo placement on the APHL website.

Your company will gain time-critical information through subscriptions to the weekly eUpdate and quarterly Lab Matters, as well as other member correspondence.

SUPPORT FOR EDUCATION

Educational Activities
APHL has a long history of providing nationwide cost-effective, relevant laboratory continuing education in a variety of formats to clinical, public health and environmental laboratorians. APHL programs reach thousands of participants each year. Educational grants and in-kind support are accepted for individual programs, as well as the opportunity to partner with APHL to develop customized training and continuing education. Exclusive and partial support is available. In addition, APHL sponsors the National Laboratory Training Network with CDC, offering laboratory continuing education on topics of public health significance.

Fellowship Program
For over 20 years, APHL has placed promising laboratorians into governmental laboratories to perform public health research and gain an appreciation for public health laboratory practice. APHL has the infrastructure and connections to support industry-sponsored Fellows.

National Center for Public Health Laboratory Leadership
Initiatives of the NCPHLL include nationwide leadership forums, emerging leader mentoring, career fairs at high schools and universities and public health laboratory technical assistance. Become a visible part of this laboratory workforce recruitment and retention solution by providing support or an educational grant for any of the initiatives.
APHL is:
Leading the Laboratories Protecting the Nation’s Health
Linking Partners to Safeguard Health
Advancing Laboratory Science
Strengthening National Laboratory Systems Worldwide
Delivering High Quality Training and Continuing Education
Bolstering Laboratory Systems
Shaping National Health Policy
Developing the Next Generation of Laboratory Leaders
Vision
A healthier world through quality laboratory systems.

Mission
Shape national and global health outcomes by promoting the value and contributions of public health laboratories and continuously improving the public health laboratory system and practice.
